

Develop Guidebook and Workbook for PAM 103

I plan to create my own material for distribution for PAM 103 – Cardiology and Pulmonology. I prefer the students to have one complete guide for the course instead of multiple resources.

I believe that this will take Two (2) course cycles (i.e. Spring 2019 & Spring 2020). Anticipated completion is June 2020. I will consider this a success based on the feedback I receive from two deliveries of the course using the newly developed resource.

Update: Since the college is looking at Open Educational Resources, I believe that this would be a good fit and will continue to move forward with creating this project. Additionally, I anticipate this to be used for the ALH 221 Electrocardiogram Application / Advanced Cardiac Life Support Course required in the ANE Program.

The first round of feedback from the PAM students in the 19SP was favorable. There were feedback suggestions that will go far in creating and modifying this resource.